By plane:

Zurich Airport is about 1h 15 min by car and 1h 45 min by train away from Swiss Optic. There is also a regional airport in Germany (Friedrichshafen) which will be approached from various Cities in Germany. From there it is about 50 min by car, as there is no meaningful train link. Car rentals are directly at the airport.

Via Wien it is possible to reach the small airport Altenheim in Switzerland. It takes about 15–20 min from there to Swiss Optic. Car rentals can be organized directly at the airport.

By train:

SwissOptic is very easily reachable by train. E.g. at Zurich airport you can get directly in the train to St. Gallen, change in St. Gallen; target station is Heerbrugg (Canton of St. Gallen). From there it is about 10 minutes' walk along the railway line towards the south to the plant.

We could also pick you up from the station; we just need to know your arrival time. Taxis are a little more difficult, but can usually be ordered at the kiosk.

By car:

From direction Chur/Sargans:

Freeway A13 to exit Diepoldsau/Widnau.
Continue towards Widnau.
At the roundabout take the exit towards Widnau.
Drive through Widnau
(remain on the main street for about 2 km).
The main street leads to an underpass onto another street.
At the traffic light turn left (towards Altstätten).
After 300 m turn again left (sign with a lof of company names).
Take the road to the end, then turn left.
After about 100 m turn again left.

You will find parking space directly in front of the entrance.
